PRESS RELEASE
15th April 2014

Privy Councillor and Justice Institute Guyana
Courtesy call on HE President Ramotar

The Right Hon. Sir Stephen Sedley, a former Lord Justice of the Court of Appeal of England recently paid a courtesy call on His Excellency President Donald Ramotar. Sir Stephen Sedley was accompanied by Melinda Janki (executive director of the Justice Institute Guyana), Michael Ellman an international human rights lawyer who is also a solicitor (England) and a non-executive director of the Justice Institute. Dr Desmond Bermingham, the chairman of the Justice Institute Guyana was also present along with the Hon. Attorney General.

Sir Stephen was in Guyana to participate in a Judicial Colloquium organised by the Justice Institute Guyana with the collaboration of the Supreme Court of Guyana. Sir Stephen also delivered the Justice Institute's Inaugural Rule of Law lecture.

According to Melinda Janki, "This inaugural lecture on the rule of law was well attended. Sir Stephen is an internationally respected lawyer and a privy councillor. The Justice Institute is absolutely thrilled to have Sir Stephen deliver this lecture for us."
